THE PARSONS COLLECTION RARE PACIFIC VOYAGE BOOKS

Hordern House has great pleasure in announcing the sale of the collection of Pacific voyage books from the library of David Parsons of Atlanta, Georgia.

David Parsons, one of the foremost collectors of voyage material, has assembled what is in many ways an ideal collection: exceptional copies of rare and important books. We are delighted to have been asked by him to catalogue and sell the Pacific voyage section of his library, the most valuable collection of Pacific voyage material to have been offered by a bookseller in modern times.

The collection is described in two fully illustrated catalogues. Part I covers the period from Dampier to Cook, the late seventeenth to the late eighteenth century. The second part continues the story of Pacific discovery and exploration from La Pérouse to Wilkes, the immediate post-Cook period to the middle of the nineteenth century.

The catalogues will prove an invaluable reference for collectors, booksellers, librarians and researchers.
